

Food
Justice

Programme

Invite to campaign plan: Tues 31 July 2018

As a member of Nourish Scotland's Food Justice Programme, I am inviting you to join us for the final session on Campaign Planning.

The Programme has brought together people who self-identify as having lived experience of food injustice to advocate for change in the Good Food Nation Bill. This includes a variety of experiences from household food insecurity, to chronic health conditions, to working in food production, retail and hospitality.

During the Programme we have identified what problems we collectively see in the food system, created a vision of the change we want, and started thinking practically about how to get there.

We have explored campaign tools like engaging with media and MSPs, and using storytelling to communicate our asks, but now we need your help.

Join us on 31 July to plan the next steps of our campaign!

Where: Clyde Community Hall, Glasgow G51 2YB

When: 10:00 – 16:00 (arrive from 09:30)

Childcare, travel expenses, and lunch provided.

Any questions, contact:

goodfoodnation@nourishscotland.org.uk